It was raining fairly heavy when I came up this morning so I postponed reading the HelCo meters, I'll try that later today.  From what I've learned reading my HelCo meter at home and mailing the reading in: you can be several days late with a reading (or early too), but they need the actual date of the reading given to them along with the reading(s).  It is still windy with light rain and fog.

The top of the fog bank has receded far enough that I've opened the domes and started all the instruments.
