The Halle filter wasn't being moved due to a damaged cable-chain that jumped a sprocket, I replaced the cable-chain. I also fixed the root of the problem, the sprockets for the Halle filter drive were misaligned, probably due to a damaged setscrew that was difficult to access and remove, I removed it and replaced it with one of my custom made tough setscrews loctited into place, then aligned the sprockets and reassembled all. This cable-chain should last a lot longer than the last one. I was pleased to see that my previous modifications designed to relieve stress on the Halle stage leadscrew end bearings works very well, no longer does tilting the spar pop out the end bearings - which used to cause cable-chains to jump sprockets with similar symptoms as this problem had. -Darryl
