PM Washed Kcor O1 due to some bulletholes and fringes. It wasn't obvious during the clean what the source of these artifc ats would have been. Ther were a couple small particles that did seem to move during water flush but my hunch is those particles wouldn't have caused these artifacts.

During of washing clouds came in and look like there are going to stick around for the duration. Hopefully we get clear s kies tomorrow to check my work; unfortuantly the Mauna kea forecast suggest we might be in for clouds and weather for the rest of the week.
