GENERAL OBSERVATORY COMMENT BY waters: Wed Jul 15 17:56:33 GMT 2015

The package with the Oscilloscope has arrived on the mountain today. Opened it up and took inventory. Everything is there, including the 25-pin D-sub connector caps for Kcor.

And nothing looks damaged to my eyes. Yeah!

GENERAL OBSERVATORY COMMENT BY waters: Wed Jul 15 22:27:52 GMT 2015

Wind is at about 12-16mph and on occasion gusting up to 23mph from the North-Northeast.

Seeing the spar shake a bit but it doesn't look like it's affecting the data yet. Hopefully as I move the shutter to the West, it'll ease up a bit.

GENERAL OBSERVATORY COMMENT BY waters: Wed Jul 15 22:47:49 GMT 2015

I was starting to see Comp shake a bit but was able to move the dome so that it wasn't facing towards the wind. The spar now shows considerably less shake. Will keep an eye on things.

GENERAL OBSERVATORY COMMENT BY waters: Thu Jul 16 01:04:03 GMT 2015

Talked to Alice quite a bit today. She asked about the stop and start for the Ulua. She did some checking and a bit of reworking and hopefully Ulua won't stop streaming data anymore. She also talked to Andrew about the NRGF being blank today and it looks like it's back up and running. Talked to Kim about Windows updates. Allen did most of the computers yesterday. I will restart Kcor computer after I shut down today. Sky was great for most of the day today. All in all, a very good day!
