GENERAL COMMENT BY berkey: Wed Mar 22 19:24:44 GMT 2017

For some reason the logging computer seems to be caching reads for files on the server.

This caused an annoying problem in which the log monitor wouldnt update until the lap top did a write to the log. This cache seems to hide all updates from windows explore r.

As a tempoary fix I changed the logging code to open the log file append nothing then c lose it again everytime we attempted a red from the file.

A rsync crontab was installed on kodiak to copy nrgf images from mlsoserver to kodiak until the ldm is updated to directly move images to kodiak.

Time to test the scripts that manage and send up the daylog.

This also triggers the creation of the t1/t2 logs as well as some other ldm clean up. Hopefully it all works.
